KARIM MUSSI is one of Argentina's most renowned producers, being an active ambassador of La Consulta (Uco Valley) where he founded his first winery, Altocedro, in 1999.

Following his compass of explorer and winemaker, he has traced his path with authentic wines, which pursue the expression of the identity of each terroir along the Andes. Wines that show balance, elegance and that evolve with time, as main traits.

Under the "Terroir Driven Wines" concept, Karim has managed to position his brands in the most demanding and important markets in the world.

Today it has a family of brands, under the umbrella of Karim Mussi Winemaker, including Abras, from Cafayate (Salta), and Altocedro, Alandes, Qaramy and Los Poetas in the Uco Valley, Mendoza.

In 2013, he opened the doors of a charming century-old adobe house located in Bodega Alandes, in the historic region of Maipú, for exclusive tastings.

In 2007, Karim was awarded the "Outstanding Young Men of Mendoza" recognition by the Mendoza Business Council, in the category "Commercial, economic and business achievements". His Altocedro Malbec Reserva was voted "Top 100" by Wine Spectator 2008.
